Calling of the Extra Session Has Restored Confidence.

American Securities Bring Higher Prices in London.

Silver Opens at an Advance Over Yesterday's Prices.

President Cleveland's proclamation calling upon Congress to meet in extraordinary session on Aug. 7, for the purpose of repealing the Sherman Silver act, which is believed to be the chief cause of all the present demoralization in financial circles, was the only feature of interest in Wall street today.

Everybody hailed it with delight, except probably the bear contingent, as an assurance of ultimate relief from the prevailing distrust and apprehension which have for so long paralyzed trade and business in all its branches.

Its effect has been instantaneous, and even before the business of the day began, it was evident that a feeling of renewed confidence and encouragement for the future had taken the place of the nervous anxiety and dread which have prevailed for several weeks, and especially within the last three or four days, when the crisis in the money market culminated.

The first indication of this change of sentiment was observed in the reports from the London market, which were received by the early morning telegrams.

It was noted that the action of President Cleveland in calling Congress together earlier than he had at first intended, had brought about a tremendous pressure had been brought to bear upon him to change his mind.

The announcement, however, of his proclamation had the immediate effect of creating a buoyancy in the market for American securities in the foreign market, and they nearly all opened this morning at an advance over yesterday's closing prices in the New York market.

Advances ranged from 1-4 to 1-2 per cent, and all showed a marked gain over the London closing prices of yesterday.

Even silver, which has been unmercifully hammered since the 15th of June, during the past two days, made a big jump, and rallied to 107 1/2.

There was no other noteworthy change in the market, and the action of the President in calling Congress together was attributed to the proclamation of the President in the morning.

The banks lost $4,500,000 in surplus reserve, and now hold $1,251,775 in excess of the 25 per cent. reserve.

The following are the comparative figures for the past two weeks:

Carolina, thought the proclamation premature, and that the country should be left to settle its own affairs.

It is about all one-sided. The Sherman law, he said, could have been repealed last session, and the compromise money could have been agreed upon.

He wanted to relieve the agricultural districts from depreciation in land values, and thought that a repeal of the tax on State bonds would go far towards relieving the South.

Representative Grady, of North Carolina, agreed with his colleague, and also declared that if Congress should demote the silver, the States had the right under the constitution to secede.

He predicted that this would happen.

LEADVILLE'S INDUSTRY CLOSED.

Greatest of All Mining Camps Shuts Down Business.

DENVER, Col., July 1.—A special to The Times from Leadville says:

The industry of the greatest mining camp on earth has been closed. Hereafter where long strings of teams have been coming from the mines only a few were seen moving yesterday. Already the streets are filling up with excited men.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the following properties closed down: Malt, Adams, Widdowson, Peterson, and the Western Union.

The Chamber of Commerce is opposed to the extra session, asserting that it is entirely unnecessary, and that Colorado is in as good financial condition as any other State in the Union.

The Governor was in his usual affable frame of mind, and speaking of the call to extra session, he said:

"I am not at all sure that the action of the President was timely, and August is early enough for the session. It is plain that the Sherman law is a mistake, and that the action of the President is a mistake."

JAIL FOR M'GLORY.

The Ex-Dive Keeper Arrested at His Home in Baldwin, L. I.

Had Just Returned from Denver, Where He Wasn't Dying.

Must Stay in Jail Until He Pays That $1,500 Judgment.

Wm. Henry McGorry, ex-King of the Dive-keepers, is in Ludlow Street Jail, where he will have to stay until he pays or has paid for him the $1,500 judgment, including costs, obtained against him by Wm. Latham & Sons, distillers, of Baltimore, Md., for unpaid liquors for the Hotel Irving, the dive Billy "never kept," but served time for keeping at Irving place and Fourteenth street.

Billy was arrested shortly after midnight this morning in front of his paternal summer residence at Baldwin, L. I., where he has been residing since Wednesday last, when he returned from Denver, Col., where he was recently reported to be dying from consumption.

This is a partial list of the mines that have been taken for the purpose of obtaining health. In reality it was the result of the issuance of an order by the Court, which required that he pay the Latham judgment, and costs inside of five days, or go to jail until it was paid.

Before the five days were up Billy and his wife, Mrs. Anna McGorry, suddenly turned up missing, and were next heard from in Denver, Manito Springs and other places in Colorado.

David Leventritt, the lawyer who obtained the judgment for Latham & Co., caused Billy's movements to be closely watched in the West, and on being apprised of his departure for the East had a detective on his track when he arrived here.

He was arrested at his home at Baldwin, where he had been residing since Wednesday last, when he returned from Denver, Col., where he was recently reported to be dying from consumption.

LOVE-SICK STOPPERS HELD.

Anna Kuhn Wrote that Her Heart Was Not for Him.

Then He Borrowed a Revolver and Shot Her in the Head.

His Widowed Daughter Returns to Norfolk To-Day.

John Stoppert, the young journeyman baker, who last night shot Anna Kuhn, the daughter of his former employer, Baker John Kuhn, of 127 Third Avenue, was arraigned in the Yorkville Police Court this morning, and he is to await the result of the girl's injuries.

Stoppert gave a reason for shooting Miss Kuhn that he loved her and she had rejected him.

She is sixteen years old and has been waiting on the customers in her father's store.

Until three months ago Mr. Kuhn had Stoppert in his employ, and did not, it appears, make any serious objection to the young man's love-making to Anna.

When Kuhn went to work for George Ebinger, at 197 West One Hundred and First street, he called on Anna frequently, and says that he believed himself accepted for life. He was, therefore, greatly surprised when in answer to an invitation to go with him to Coney Island he received this reply:

"Dear Mr. Stoppert: I want to inform you that I do not love you, and I do not want you to come to Coney Island with me. I have considered the matter and find that I cannot do so for you. Do not think of yourself about it. I think your life would not be a happy one if you were to come to Coney Island with me. Do not come on Saturday; I shall not go with you. Respectfully, 'ANNA'."

Stoppert, who has been living at 187 West One Hundred and Eleventh street, then borrowed a revolver from his friend, George Schaeffer, and last evening, at 8 o'clock, called on Miss Kuhn at her father's bakery, and shot her in the head.
